August is Back to School Month

It's that time of year where summer is winding down and fall is creeping up on us. Time to start thinking about school supplies, uniforms, and lots of paperwork. This is also a great time to build your child's excitement for the start of the new school year at Tiny Treasures Daycare and Learning Center.

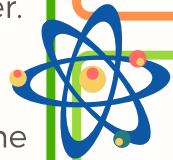

Remember, when you were really young the summer felt like a lifetime and heading back to school or moving up in a classroom came out of the blue. This is a great time to prepare your child for what's coming in the new school year and to build their excitement. Talk about the fun they are going to have, new friends and old ones. Discussing new routines and changes will help ease any nervousness or anxiety for your little one. Another great way to prepare your kids for moving up to a new class is by reading books with a similar theme. Here is a short list of ones we found great (available on Amazon):

- The Night Before Preschool* by Natasha Wing
- Maisy Goes to Preschool* by Lucy Cousins
- Daniel Goes to School* by Becky Friedman
- Llama Llama Misses Mama* by Anna Dewdney
- The 12 Days of Preschool* by Jenna Lettice
